SEVERAL NEIGHBOURS TESTIFY TO HIS GOOD CHARACTER AND WORK

TRIAL WILL PROBABLY END TO-DAY.

Q.—Did you go then and get the money?
A.—No. She had taken it away and they doing to you now I had to give him an answer.
Q.—When did she take it away?
A.—The evening she ran away and got frostbitten.
Q.—How many times did Bell steal fifty cents?
A.—Well, eight times more or less. of that fifty cents that you went out she returned money to me she stole on the road at night and said to a stranger that your children had stolen dollar bill this winter.
Q.—Why did you tell Mason that the children had stolen $5 from you?
A.—Yes. Fifty cents to a man who wants a pound of tea or something

(he is a heavy loss.
Q.—Yet when you first missed the fifty cents you only said to the children whichever of you took that fifty cents, put it back?
A.—Yes that's all. I wasn't in want of the fifty cents. I wasn't depending on that.
Q.—Didn't Bell tell you that evening when she came back frostbitten that she took the money?
A.—No she didn't.
Q.—You said before she did tell you that evening, now which is true?
A.—I'm not sure.
Q.—Are you sure of the evidence you gave yesterday?
A.—I'm liable to mistake.
Q.—Then you say you said nothing to Bell about the money after you came back with her from the grave yard road?
A.—I'm not sure.
Yesterday Afternoon's Session.
Examination of Accused Continued.

Q.—You said yesterday that Bell was in the habit of running away. When did she start that?
A.—Last June.
Q.—Why did she run away?
A.—I don't know.
Q.—How long did she stay away the first time?
A.—Not ten minutes before I found her.
Q.—Where did you find her?
A.—In the bottom of my garden.
Q.—How did you know she was running away?
A.—When I found that she had thrown a bottle thru a window I knew she was running away.
Q.—You saw her run?
A.—Yes. I went down and found her.
Q.—What did you mean when you said you did not know why she ran away?
A.—I wasn't positively sure that she threw the bottle thru the window till the others told me.
Q.—Did you think she wouldn't come back?
A.—Well, perhaps she might not come back till I'd go away.
Q.—But why not?
A.—Fearing that I'd beat her.
Q.—You think that?
A.—Well perhaps the others beat her.
Q.—Do you think now that she ran away fearing that you would beat her?
A.—Yes, that's my opinion.
Q.—Yet five minutes ago you said you didn't know why she ran away?
A.—Yes, I said I didn't know whether it was fear of me or that the others beat her.
Q.—Yesterday you said you didn't know of the others ever beating her, didn't you?
A.—I never caught them doing it.
Q.—Was it after she threw the bottle thru the window that she stole the ten dollar bill?
A.—No, before.
Q.—You didn't beat her then.
A.—I beat her for taking the ten dollar bill, but not for throwing the bottle thru the window.
Q.—Did she run away when she took the ten dollar bill?
A.—Yes.
Q.—Had you ever beaten her before?

Q.—Is that the only reason you had?
A.—I gave him that answer from feeling the loss and the want of the fifty cents.
Q.—Then you felt the loss so keenly of that fifty cents that you went out on the road at night and said to a stranger that your children had stolen $5 from you?
A.—Yes. Fifty cents to a man who wants a pound of tea or something fore?

A.—No.
Q.—Then why if she ran away thru fear of you did she run then?
A.—I don't know.
Q.—Was the child afraid of you?
A.—I don't know. She had no reason to be afraid of me.
Q.—How often did she run away?
A.—When she threw the bottle, when she stole the $10, when Mike Mason found her, when she went to Mrs. Pendergrast's and when she got frostbitten.
Q.—Yesterday you said she was all the time running away. Do you remember that?
A.—Yes, but this was when she'd run away and I didn't know where she was. There were other times when she'd go away and come back again.
Q.—What places did you go and find her?
A.—I found her once in the bottom of my over ground about 60 yards from the house. Another time I got her in a ballast pit. That was when she took the $10.
Q.—You've already told us about these times. You said there were others. What were they?
A.—I went to Mrs. Mason's and I found her, again one time a woman sent to me that she found her and Gregory.
Q.—What had she done when you found her at Mrs. Mason's?
A.—Nothing.
Q.—Then why do you say she ran away?
A.—Well, I wouldn't find her for the length of a day.
Q.—Your quite positive you never beat Bell except once with the rope?
A.—Quite sure.
Q.—Up to the time she ran away to Mrs. Pendergrast's you had only beaten her once when she stole the $10 in June?
A.—That's all.
Q.—The time she ran away to Mrs. Pendergrast's was in December wasn't it?
A.—No. I think it was in October. I was digging my potatoes.
Q.—Will you swear you were digging your potatoes?
A.—No. I remember now I was putting them in out of pits. It was in December.
Q.—You had not beaten Bell since June and this was in December, now why did Bell run away without boots or stockings because she broke a cup?

A.—I don't know. I was away and when I came she was gone. I went to Mrs. Murray's to look for her a mile away.
Q.—Can you find any reason for her running away?
A.—I cannot.
Q.—When you came back from Murray's and found Bell home, you had walked two miles. Now it is a lie the children tell about you taking her down to the brook?
A.—It is a lie. I am here to tell you the truth if I can.
Q.—When you went after Bell you thought she had run away again?
A.—Yes.
Q.—If you didn't beaten of threatened her before, why did you think she had run away?
A.—I don't know.
Q.—When you went after Bell towards the grave yard, why did you go up the grave yard Rd. after going past it and coming back?
A.—I didn't go up the grave yard Rd. I went across a void place. I saw her going up thru it and went after and caught her.
Q.—Did you say anything to her when you caught her?
A.—Nothing.
Q.—What did you do?
A.—I picked her up and glad to get her. When I got to this road she got contrary and said if I'd put her down she'd go home.
Q.—She had no boots on?
A.—Only two pairs stockings.
Q.—In what condition were the stockings?
A.—The toes were out of both pairs. The heels were good.
Q.—Her bare toes were on the snow?
A.—Her own were not gone as bad as mine.
Q.—Was it cold?
A.—Not very.
Q.—It was cold enough for you to have your mitts on?
A.—No. I had them with me and put one of them on. I had them in my pocket when I went to look for her and I took them in my hand fearing I'd lose them.
Q.—Did you hear the others say it was cold?
A.—It may be cold to them.

Attacks Socialism

LONDON, Mar. 23.—A bitter attack on Socialism, which, he said, was tearing parties to pieces and on its way to tearing society to pieces, was made by Lloyd George in addressing "new members of the Coalition group" yesterday. All possible steps must be taken, he said, to instruct the electors who at the distant date must decide the issue between Socialists and Coalition.

The German Case

PARIS, Mar. 23.—It is maintained in the German note that the twenty billion marks which the peace treaty provided should be paid before May first, has been more than paid. The note asks that a joint commission of experts fix the value of German deliveries on reparations account, but declares that in any event it would be impossible by first of May.

TRIAL FOR ALLEGED MURDER OF CHILD CONTINUES TO-DAY.

Q—Wouldn't it also be cold to that night?

A—No.

Q—You didn't put her out of doors?

A—No.

Q—Yet her feet got frostbitten.

A—When she ran away.

Q—She made no complaint that night?

A—None whatever. I heard none.

Q—Then the children were mistaken when they say they carried her up to bed?

A—They were. She walked up stairs.

Q—Why did Gregory carry her up stairs when she had sore feet instead of you?

A—He could carry her more comfortably than I could.

Q—And Mary used to carry her up. Do you think that an 11 year old boy and a crippled girl could carry her better than a big strong man like you?

A—Yes. She said she'd rather have Gregory carry her. He used to carry her on his back with her feet out under his arms.

Q—Did you ever offer to carry her up?

A—Yes the first night she was carried up.

Q—Then if that was the first time she had been carried up how did she know Gregory could carry her more comfortably than you?

A—I don't know.

Q—You said you tied her hands once. Was that in front of or behind her?

A—Before her. To keep her in the kitchen with me one night, lying on the floor with me. I was afraid she might run away or throw herself through a window.

Q—You kept her lying on the floor till 3 o'clock in the morning with her hands tied?

A—Yes.

Q—Why were you afraid she'd do herself harm?

A—I don't know.

Q—Still you untied her hands and sent her up to bed when you went away at 3 o'clock?

A—Yes.

Q—Is there any way of locking your doors?

A—No.

Q—Don't you think it would have been more humane for you to put a nail in the door until you were going out than for you to tie her hands?

A—I didn't want to do that.

Q—Did you tie her to the chimney?

A—That was the time her hands were tied. She was never tied to the chimney.

Q—The time you sat her in the swing. When was that?

A—In June. The time she broke the window.

Q—You didn't beat her or throw water on her?

A—No.

Q—You are sure Mary was the only one you threw water over?

A—Yes. I threw a half gallon of water over her when she tore up Mrs. Cantwell's plants.

Q—When you found Bell's feet getting bad you sent the boy for Mrs. Pendergrast?

A—Well I didn't know whether the feet were getting bad or not.

Q—Why did you send for Mrs. Pendergrast?

A—She was the only one around who hadn't much to employ her attention and I wanted someone to look after the child when I was away.

Q—The child's feet were getting black?

A—They were getting dark.

Q—Weren't they getting black?

A—Yes. Dark is the way I say it.

Q—You say when your wife died the doctor—Dr. Jones—refused to come?

A—Yes, the proof is here in court.

Q—Then you fell out with the doctor?

A—No. I told him when I'd go for him again I'd be walking on sticks.

Q—That was 6 years ago. Have you had any reason since to call the doctor?

A—No.

Q—If one of your children were dying, do you swear you wouldn't go for the doctor?

A—No. I'd send for him but I wouldn't go for him.

Q—You said when the top of the child's toe came off you began to think of the doctor?

A—Yes.

Q—Why?

A—The top of the toe coming off scared me a little, but the feet seemed to be healing.

Q—If you thought of the doctor why didn't you get one?

A—I wasn't able to pay the doctor for a visit and I couldn't stand the expense of a nurse. I couldn't afford the hospital either.

Q—You say the feet were not then looking bad?

A—No, they were not.

Q—You kept some money in a purse sewn up in a trousers' pocket, didn't you have it then?

A—There was $20 in that purse at the time Bell took the 50 cents.

Q—How much money had you when you were arrested?

A—Sixteen dollars. It was sent me by a man for housebuilding.

Q—When was the purse sewn up in your pocket?

A—In the early part of the winter.

Q—Will you swear the reason you did not send for the doctor was because you couldn't afford to?

A—Yes, that was the reason since I miss tell the truth.

Q—Why didn't you say that yesterday instead of giving the other story?

A—I was ashamed to say that till I was forced to.

Q—You weren't ashamed to tell the jury of all the thievery of your children?

A—I was ashamed but I had to tell the truth.

Q—When you thought of the doctor what did you think about getting him?

A—I thought he might scalp the feet and give the child more pain and that along with not being able to stand against his fee kept me from sending for him.

Q—On Saturday before the child died did you think she was dying?

A—Not till Sunday morning.

Q—Why didn't you send for the doctor?

A—I don't know. Not being able to pay his fee and besides when she got jaw-locked I thought the doctor could do nothing. He could do nothing for her mother after she got jaw-locked.

Q—Do you ever get goods on credit?

A—Last summer was the first time.

Q—Why?

A—To carry on my work.

Q—And while your child was dying you would not go and ask the doctor to give you credit?

A—Yes.

Q—Yesterday you explained that when you went back to the children after being arrested you wanted to tell them if the police came to tell them nothing about the stuff that was hidden?

A—Yes. That's what I meant.

Q—What goods had been stolen?

A—Bedclothes and other clothing such as underwear.

Q—You saw them?

A—Yes.

Q—How soon after they stole them did you discover the goods?

A—The morning they brought it back.

Q—Did you punish them?

A—No. I didn't beat them. I took charge of the clothes till I found where they came from.

Q—Who hid the stuff?

A—I did.

Q—What did you say when Const. Devine and Mr. Ezekiel came?

A—I said the stuff wasn't there. I told a lie to keep out of trouble.

Q—Is the stuff there now?

A—Yes.

Q—Where?

A—Under my house in a hole. I determined that the first chance I got it had to go back.

Q—You go to church every Sunday?

A—Yes.

Q—Do your children?

A—No. Only the last 12 months

there has been a priest stationed in Avondale.

Q—Why didn't the children go?

A—I forced them to go and they wouldn't.

Q—Of course you wouldn't punish them for not going?

A—No. I wouldn't punish them.

Q—Did you need anybody to remind you of getting the priest?

A—No, but the child was case hardened and she wasn't able to speak to the priest.

Q—And you let a case-hardened child die without the services of the priest?

A—Yes.

Q—It wasn't a case of not being able to pay for him was it?

A—No.

Q—Then why did you not send for him?

A—The child wasn't able to speak for herself and I wasn't able to stand up and talk to the priest for her.

Q—But do you men to tell the jury that you think the services of the priest were no good because the child did not know how to talk to him?

A—No. I knew the services of the priest were good.

Q—Would you like to die without the priest?

A—No, I would not.

The cross-examination ended at 5 p.m.

Mr. Higgins re-examined the prisoner but no new facts were elicited except that the prisoner owes Dr. Jones money which debt was contracted on his wife's account. The doctor used to charge $10 for coming to his house, but on this occasion his wife had kept back $4 for a visit on which the doctor was late.

Bridget Seavey sworn. Examined by Mr. Higgins—She comes from Avondale and knows Mr. Nolan very well. He lives quite near her. She's his next door neighbor. She has often been in his house. He's a very good man to her idea. Could be a better neighbor. His children know her well and never made any complaints to her about their father. She knows nothing of his having done anything to his children. He's guilty of no offence in her opinion. The children are very shrewd (rude). Couldn't be any worse, they steal and tell lies. Mary burns her own, her brothers and sister's clothing. When Nolan was away he sent witness money for the children, and they were in want of nothing. If they were poorly fed or clothed it was their own fault. Nolan neglected his children in no way to her idea. She hadn't much to say about Gregory. He never did anything to her. Mary is the worst. Bell was a nice little girl, but she was wild—poor little thing. It was reported that her father used to beat her and she'd run away but she didn't believe that. Cross examined she said she heard of Nolan beating his children, but she wouldn't believe it unless she saw it. She knew of Bell Nolan running away before last June. It was two years ago she admitted since Mary burnt the clothing. When the Atty. General tried to pin the witness down to a definite lie she couldn't think of a definite one. However she said Mary Nolan was guilty of everything but murder—theft, plunder, lying, and everything else. She wouldn't believe that Nolan would throw half a gallon of water over Mary. She wouldn't believe he'd beat one of his children with a rope. She wouldn't believe anything of that kind unless she saw it.

Martha Cantwell sworn and examined by Mr. Higgins. She lives in Avondale and knows Nolan well. The sumtotal of her evidence was that Nolan was one of the best men of her acquaintance, and his children were amongst the worst. They were dressed all right for a poor man, but they did everything under the sun in the way of badness. No reputation at all.

Cross examined she said Mary Nolan was a liar because she, the witness, had given her clothes and she Avondale, knows Nolan and his child, said she said she didn't burn them. The latter boarded at Mrs. when Bell said she did. All she Mason's after their father was arrested knew about her stealing was that she took plants and wood. Gregory brother Joe and Mike Mason. Mary is a thief she said because he stole witness's cuffs. He didn't tell lies that she knew of except that he said he didn't take the cuffs. She heard of Mary taking her father to court at Mr. Main, but she never heard of him beating her except that time. She never saw Nolan with a crown. She thought he was too fond of the children.

The Court then adjourned till 10 o'clock this morning.

The Nolan Case—

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

The Court resumed its hearing of the Nolan murder case at 10 o'clock this morning, when the case for the defence was continued.

Patrick Molloy, sworn. Examined by Mr. Higgins. He lives at Avondale and was at Nolan's house in January. He remembered the night Bell Nolan ran away. He was at Nolan's house that afternoon and directed their efforts against court fixed. He went down to get a shaft house, city halls, public banks and police headquarters. A bomb exploded in the Lepaic court house this morning. Bell "an odious" beating. Witness and blew off the roof, broke all windows, wrecked the lobby, and shattered the windows of buildings in the vicinity of two blocks. In Rodewisch he saw Mary and Greg. In the night he saw these and Mr. Nolan, he didn't see Bell there. He was in the kitchen at 7.30 and Bell was not there. Nolan himself was not there at 4.30. Buildings in Aurebach, Freiberg and he heard about Bell running away. He knows the piece of void ground where she was said to be found. He remembered Detective Byrne going into his house and asking him to come here and give evidence and that he couldn't come because he was subject to fits. Both he and his brother were in Nolan's kitchen and he swore that Nolan never even mentioned Bell to them much less having told them that he had beaten her. Nolan's children were very wild and often ran away. They weren't afraid of their father beating them but he had heard of the children's bad reputation. He had heard that Mary Nolan had her father before Court in Mr. Main for beating her.

Questioned by Mr. Justice Johnson: He had had fits and he had told Head Const. Byrne that they stood in the way of his coming to town. That was the truth, he said.

John Molloy, sworn. Examined by Mr. Higgins. He is the father of the last witness. The son has falling sickness on whiles. Witness was born and reared in Avondale, is 55 and knows Nolan long and well, found him a good neighbor. He saw Nolan's children and knows them well, they were very wild. Nolan had no trouble letting his children out but when he'd let them out he used to have a lot of trouble in surrounding them to get them in again. This applied to them collectively and individually. He had caught Gregory and Bell stealing from a barn. That was all the stealing he knew them to do. Bell was wild and William Nolan couldn't handle her. Witness had no collar or in court. He had taken off his collar and tie on Tuesday last in court and put them in his overcoat. When he went to put them on Greg Nolan had taken them.

Cross-examined by the Attorney General: No other boy ever played tricks on witness but Gregory Nolan. He never heard of or saw Nolan beating his children. Further questioned witness admitted that Nolan did have a reputation for beating his children.

Q—Why did you hesitate to answer that question?

A—I have nothing to say about Nolan only what's right and proper. The children, he said, had a reputation for stealing. He heard of them stealing from Ezekiel. He never heard of Nolan beating the children before this trial. He was home when Detective Byrne was at his house to get his son to come here and give evidence but the son didn't come because his mother didn't care to let him.

Francis Cantwell, sworn. Examined by Mr. Higgins. Witness lives in Avondale, knows Nolan and his child, said she said she didn't burn them. The latter boarded at Mrs. when Bell said she did. All she Mason's after their father was arrested knew about her stealing was that she took plants and wood. Gregory brother Joe and Mike Mason. Mary

Communists Are Rising In German Cities

BERLIN, Mar. 23—Communist work is being organized in the City Administration Buildings in Hamburg to-day, then the Nolan murder case at 10 o'clock this morning, when the case for the defence was continued.

He was at Nolan's house that afternoon and directed their efforts against court fixed. He went down to get a shaft house, city halls, public banks and police headquarters. ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND, THURSDAY, MARCH 24th, 1921

THE NEWS AND THE TELEGRAM ARE VERY MUCH WORRIED!

The Evening Telegram and the Daily News, bound to the chariot of the Cashin-Morine Party, are being worried to death these days. They have had orders from their political chiefs to "play up" and try to make a split in the ranks of the Government, a Government which has never been so united as since the Harbor Main election. Both papers are angling now for Mr. Coaker. They want to know why he does not immediately resign. They weep hot tears over the fact that some of the Fish Regulations have been dropped while Mr. Coaker is away, and want to know what he is going to do about it! It is the bitterness of sour grapes that makes these Cashin papers writhe because all their promises to Mr. Main are going to be unfulfilled.

Sir M. P. Cashin, was going to be Premier by this time, according to his promise to the Head of the Bay; but we have not heard anything of it. Indeed he seems farther away than ever from that coveted post.

These purblind Tories imagine that they can go to Mr. Main District, fight venomously against Messrs. Squires and Coaker because of their religion and hurl all sorts of charges against these gentlemen, and yet come back expecting to break the Government by inducing some of the Government members to join them. Can anyone imagine any member of the Government joining hands with the Party? After hearing of the campaign of Messrs. McDonnell, Fox and Walsh, can it be for a moment thought that any self-respecting members of the Government would join these discredited politicians?

The Tory papers can dispute as long as they like, but they will never cause a ripple in the Government ranks. The Tories, as politicians, are stark staring mad. They have themselves spiked their guns, brought their defences to the ground and there is nothing left to them except political oblivion.

Capt. John Lewis used strong language to a gentleman who was entering the little town of Colliers on Polling Day. He told him that he was not going to be allowed to enter Colliers that day. "We don't want any Coakerism in this district," says Capt. Lewis. "Well," says the man "if I go out of Colliers to-day, it will be a slow procession and I will be on a hearse," and he stayed in spite of Capt. Lewis.

Capt. Lewis will not be asked by any other district whether it will have "Coakerism" or not, and it may interest him to know that in the northern districts the Union Fires are burning brighter than ever and the Councils are flourishing with new life because of the despicable opposition tactics, which have culminated in the disgraceful and contemptible campaign in Hr. Main.

DUBLIN, March 23.—Twenty-four persons were killed and nearly thirty wounded in an ambush reported to-day. Men to whom the Government attribute the organization of ambushes have not been captured. Multiplication of ambushes is believed to be largely due to reprisals for recent executions. Seinn Fein is said to regard their men as belligerents and the execution of those captured as a breach of the laws of war and punishable by reprisals. The execution of Whelan was followed by the killing of two policemen in his native town of Clifden. Deaths of policemen were avenged in Clifden by house burning. For every man executed vengeance is anticipated, and as the Government has in custody many men liable to the death penalty, and is said to mean to carry out executions, the piling up of deaths on each side is considered here as inevitable.

SPLENDID UNION MEETINGS HELD IN TRINITY BAY

Councils Determined to Stand By Coaker

(Special to the Advocate)

PORT REXTON, March 23.—One of the largest and best Union meetings ever held here took place in the S.U.F. Hall last night. The speakers were Messrs. Scammell and Guppy. Mr. Scammell arrived from English Hr., where he had addressed a public meeting, followed by a Union meeting on Monday. Port Rexton Council last night heard one of the best addresses on public questions and Union matters that it has ever heard, and is more alive to the necessity of standing by Coaker and the Union than ever before.

Messrs. Scammell and Guppy are addressing a meeting at Champneys tonight, and on Thursday night a mass meeting followed by a Union meeting is being held at Trinity East. Reports from Bonavista Bay South and Trinity Bay show that there has been a great revival of Union feeling and interest this winter. All are determined to stand by Coaker and strengthen his hands in his work on behalf of the toilers.

JAMES BUTLER, Chairman.

RCBT. PLOUGHMAN, Deputy Chairman.

THE MURDER CASE

The rest of the evidence he gave, he said, was as true as that. When Mary Nolan said something about making lies about her father witness didn't know what she meant although he "picked her up" for saying it. (Chief Justice warned witness that there was such a crime as perjury and that the punishment for it was jail.) There were four women and three or four men and boys present at the time Mary Nolan said the words about telling lies on her father but there had been no conversation whatever going on there. Witness had not been talking to Mary Nolan up to the time she said the words. When she said "I'll make enough lies to hang him this time," he did not know what she meant by "this time." The silence continued after the words were spoken.

Q.—Were you in Nolan's house since Bell's funeral?
A.—Yes.
Q.—Who else was there?
A.—My brother Joe and Mr. Nolan. That was the Sunday Detective Byrne came there. Detective Byrne told us to get out of the room.
Q.—Did Nolan go out of the room?
A.—Yes.
Q.—The two children were left there?
A.—Yes.
Q.—When you came back was it you or your brother told the children not to say anything about their father?
A.—Neither of us said anything at all to that end.
Witness didn't stay more than 15 minutes after Byrne left, but he heard no conversation that time of Bell's death or of what the detective had said to the children.

Patrick Grace; sworn. Examined by Mr. Higgins: He has always lived in Hr. Main. Knows Nolan well and found him a good industrious man, etc. Was at Bell Island with him. Never saw him ill-treat his children but knew of him providing for them. He knew all the children. They were wild, etc. Knew nothing against them of his own knowledge. Reputation of all them was bad.

Cross-examined by Attorney General: Dr. Jones is the doctor in Avondale; he is also the district doctor. Joseph Cantwell; sworn. Examined by Mr. Higgins: Witness is brother of Francis Cantwell. He was at Mrs. Mason's the Sunday after Nolan was arrested. Mary Nolan and Gregory were there with a number of others. He was playing checkers with Mike Mason. No conversation took place. No remarks were passed except the remark his brother passed to Mary Nolan about the lies she said she made on her father in Hr. Main court. He was at Nolan's house the Sunday Detective Byrne came to the house. He went out with the others when the detective came in and returned when he had gone after talking to the children. He mentioned nothing to anyone about the case nor did anyone mention anything to him nor did he hear anyone mention Nolan's name since he was arrested. All the witnesses came in together on the train but they had no conversation about the case whatever, and the only time he heard a remark passed was what Mary said at Mason's house. Witness couldn't be sure that Gregory Nolan was in Mason's kitchen at the time. Mary Nolan was talking about her father and said there was trouble between herself and her father at Hr.

Main and she told lies about him then and that she would tell enough to hang him this time. She was talking to herself.

Chas. Collins; sworn. Examined by Mr. Higgins: He is night watchman at Mount Cashel. They have a boy there named Gregory Nolan but don't know who his father is. He caught Gregory Nolan running away one night at 12.30. Young Nolan slept on the top dormitory and the witness came upon him on the lower flat. He was fully dressed; he had a bag or pillow slip in his hand which he dropped when he saw the watchman. He said he had just found it where he dropped it. He had on a pair of long rubbers which he took from some place in the building.

Cross-examined by the Attorney General: This happened several nights after young Nolan came to the orphanage. He left on two other occasions but witness did not know of his having taken anything else.

Arthur Grant; sworn. Examined by Mr. Higgins: I am at Mount Cashel and am 10 years old.

Q.—Do you know what an oath means?
A.—Yes. Calling God to witness that I am telling the truth.
Q.—Where will you go if you don't tell the truth?
A.—To jail.

Witness identified several articles belonging to boys in the orphanage which were in the bag the watchman found with Nolan.

This finished the case for the defence.

The court adjourned till 2.30. Mr. Higgins will begin his address to the jury when the court resumes.

A WORD ABOUT "MARMADUKE"

Everyone is wondering just what kind of comedy "The Irresistible Marmaduke" really is. The answer is "wait and see." While waiting, however, it would be as well to book your tickets, because they are selling rapidly at the Royal Stationery Company's store, and you may find it difficult to secure a good seat if you postpone it too long. In addition to the comedy itself, there are several attractive in the way of "specialties" in which leading city artists will take part between the acts, so that there will not be a dull moment from the time the gentlemanly ushers show you to your seat until the band plays "God Save the King" and you depart satisfied to your home. The C.C.C. and C.L.B. bands will form the orchestra. There will be dances by Mount Cashel boys, songs and recitations by popular and talented ladies and gentlemen, while the comedy itself is a winner from the word "go." New talent will be seen behind the footlights, blended with the best of our well known amateurs. All next week people will be talking of "The Irresistible Marmaduke," so get your tickets early and be able to keep up your end of the conversation. The proceeds, as you are probably aware, will be given Mount Cashel. Help out the good cause.

THE ACTING MAYOR REPLIES TO THE INSPECTOR GEN'L.

City Hall, March 22nd 1921.

C. H. Hutchings Esq., K.C., Inspector General Constabulary.

Dear Sir, Your letter to Mayor Gosling dated the 21st inst. in reference to the Palace fire has been handed to me as Presiding Officer in the absence of Mr. Gosling. I have no intention of entering upon any discussion as to the merits or demerits of the case, but I cannot let the occasion pass without expressing my regret that you should have seen fit to continue and publish correspondence in the known absence of the addressee and apparently with the sole purpose of indulging in baseless and insulting criticism.

After close association with Mayor Gosling in Municipal Management for the past six years, I have had opportunities of witnessing the ability and interest with which he has handled civic problems, and knowing as I do the benefits derived by the city during his term of office, I must strongly resent the offensive nature of your letter. Already there has been too much printers' ink wasted in futile discussion. In many minds there are many opinions and you and the Mayor might be writing till Tibb's Eve without result.

I am in entire accord with the appointment of a Commission to enquire into all the circumstances of the fire because I feel that the matter is too serious and of too great moment to end up with the usual editorial dictum, "this correspondence must now cease."

I might say that I am writing this letter without the knowledge or approval of the Municipal Board, as I feel that I should lose no time in standing up for Mayor Gosling when you bring into the realms of argument the despicable weapon of abuse.

Yours truly,

J. J. MULLALLY,

Acting Mayor.

Tuberculosis In Canada's Cattle.

Alarming Increase—Brown Swiss Cattle.

PEROLIA, Ont., Feb. 11.—The alarming increase of tuberculosis in cattle throughout Canada, particularly Ontario, was asserted to be one of the most important questions in the live stock industry, by W. R. Reek, assistant livestock commissioner of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, who addressed two hundred farmers here last night at the banquet given by the Lambton County Corn Growers' Association.

Mr. Reek stated that 26.2 per cent. of the hogs shipped to Toronto abattoirs last year from Kent County alone were diseased with tuberculosis and that Lambton County followed very closely with a large percentage. He attributed this increase of tuberculosis in hogs to the diseased stocks of cows and appealed to farmers to do everything in their power to combat the disease.

In urging the farmers to produce higher grade stock, Mr. Reek asserted that unless they do so the Argentine Republic, which is Canada's close competitor in exporting live stock, will step in and secure the bulk of Canada's trade.

TORONTO, Feb. 11.—Much confidence in the future for a comparatively new breed in this country was evidenced at the annual meeting of the Canadian Brown Swiss Association at the Hotel Carlsrite yesterday. While the meeting was small in numbers, there not being many breeders of these cattle in Canada, there was no lack of enthusiasm. The association decided to give grants of $200 for Brown Swiss at Sherbrooke, the Canadian National and Royal Agricultural exhibitions.

Officers elected included: President, W. A. Jolley, Waterloo, Que.; Secretary, R. Libby, Staragard, Que.; Directors, G. W. Dinege, Gagetown, N.B.; and P. R. Trafford, Waterloo, Que.

SECTARIANISM

In recent issues the public have been given some facts with regard to the electioneering tactics pursued by the Cashin Opposition Party during the bye-elections in the District of Hr. Main.

From these facts the public must have already decided that the Cashin candidates were not elected on any principle of policy, but were caused by the incendiary religious propaganda of Cashin's associates, to be elected because they were the Roman Catholic candidates of a Roman Catholic leader. The fact was impressed upon the voters of the upper end of the District that the Government, now in power, was a Protestant Party, while the Opposition was a Roman Catholic Party. The leader of the Protestant Party, it was emphasized, was a rabid Protestant and Orangeman, whilst the Opposition leader was a Roman Catholic. The one party was designated by the "yellow," the other party by the "green," and the voters were appealed to, by the one-time loud-mouthed political purists of the Walsh-Fox-McDonnell calibre, to stand by the "green" and avoid the terrible consequences of the election of the Government nominees. So brutally insistent were the Cashin campaigners in instilling such propaganda into the minds of the inhabitants of the district that on the Friday night previous to polling day many voters were called from their beds and told "For God's sake to vote for Cashin and save themselves."

The Squires candidates polled more votes than in the general election. The majority of the Cashin candidates was lessened; and the Cashin newspaper organs see the futility of denying that the bye-election constitutes a substantial endorsement of the policy of the present Government.

To the contrary they have remained silent on the whole matter.

and, while one or two of their religio-political fanatics have, thru and by private threats, threatened libels for the exposure of their foul sectarian practices, the libels have not materialized and the exposures will be, in the public interest, relentlessly proceeded with. Messrs Hawco and Furey fought a straight and clean fight on lines of Government policy. The Opposition did not conduct the campaign on lines of policy. Theirs was a campaign of wholesale lying, personal abuse and religious thuggery. The Opposition Party, the Catholic sections of the district, caused the election to be fought on the false issue of Roman Catholicism versus Protestantism. The result was inevitable.

It is the interest of the public that the whole story be told, irrespective of the chagrin and shame of the guilty creatures, who, hitherto professed themselves above such degradation. Sectarianism must be crushed, or there will in future result a distinct religious cleavage in our political life; and to crush sectarianism the public must see that the political hypocrites who have so recently degraded themselves, are chased from political life, to which they are both a disgrace and a menace.

STAINER'S "CRUCIFIXION"

In Gower Street Methodist Church, on Good Friday night at 8 o'clock, the Choir will sing the above named work. The special parts will be taken by Misses A. Russel and Helen Lodge and Messrs. W. Tucker, H. Taylor, W. H. Peters and J. Wornell. A collection will be taken for the Choir Fund of the Church. During the past six years Gower St. Choir has sung this work several times with much acceptance to the large congregations who have assembled to hear it, and we feel sure that Mr. Beresford, the organist and choir-master and his choir will give a sympathetic and helpful rendition in song of the events recorded in the work.

This Is The Coaker== May He be Granted Many Years to Do Good

Mr. Henry Hobbs Writes With a Full Heart

(To the Editor)
Dear Sir.—Please allow me space in the columns of the much read paper, the Evening Advocate, to write a reminder of the days gone by. In looking over the past I am surprised at the wonderful changes of a few years. Uniform from 1910 to 1913 is worth a lifetime of a humdrum life of work, sleep and eat. In 1910 W. F. Coaker organised F. P. U. Councils in Trinity and Bonavista Districts and the independent men that were asleep he awoke them in a flame of white fire that nothing could impede.
This is the Coaker, who in 1911 and 1912, when visiting the Councils in the Northern Districts was welcomed with salvoes of musketry, re-echoing from place to place, extending to the Thirty Shore.
This is the Coaker who would have great arches built to his honour from the natural growth of the forest.
This is the Coaker who when entering a Hall would see the floors covered with mats of every design, the handwork of ladies. The walls would be decorated with banners and wreaths of flowers, and mottoes hung in conspicuous places containing such words as sink or swim with Coaker or "Lead on Coaker, we are with you," and "On With Coaker to Death or Victory."

This is the Coaker who in nineteen and thirteen polled the greatest vote ever recorded in Bonavista, thereby defeating his political opponents and raising the F. P. U. from a young man to a great and mighty giant, whose power is now felt from one end of this Dominion to the other.
This is the Coaker who has led his chosen few in 1913 into the House of Assembly and became a thorn in the side of the Morris Party, that he practically drove from power like the great Gideon who led his 300 chosen Israelites against the host of Median and destroyed them.
This is the Coaker, when in the was suffering from the after effects of the war applied regulations and standardization of fish, thereby securing a profitable price for the fisherman once more saving this country from a delapidated condition.

This is the Coaker that in the last few months could have sold one hundred and seventy-five thousand qtls. of fish, adding to the country's wealth one million dollars, but that the merchants did not play the game. Now I believe it is the heartfelt prayer of every fisherman that his country's interest at heart, that God will grant Coaker twenty years more of public life to accomplish his great work, and as God added fifteen to the life of King Hezekiah, so may He, after Coaker's work is done, add fifteen years more to Coaker to enjoy the blessing of work well done is my fervent prayer. Now it would be good for us to look at the past; it would give us more faith for the future. I think we would do well to remember the words of the Great English Poet, Rudyard Kipling:
O God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget!
Notwithstanding the great work that has been done by this organization, it is not yet perfect. There is still work to be done. It still needs improvements and such improvements must come. There must be no discrimination, there must be no Pharaoh in our midst. Life must be much brighter, humdrum life must end, all must enjoy the blessings of life, and unity of work, and be on equal terms. One must not have starvation wage and another a luxurious salary. Those who fought must be remembered as well those who sleep and wait, and as God tempers the weather to the shorn lamb, so must everything be tempered accordingly to the want of life. It is not life for a man to work 10, 12 and 14 hours for food and raiment. He must have some recreation, a time to develop his mental faculties. We cannot live by bread alone, but by improving our strength of mind, and keeping ourselves abreast of times.

I did not intend this letter to be so long, but I could write for a day and still not finish.
Thanking you for space, Mr. Editor,
I am, Yours truly,

Carrier's Defence

Did Not Delay Mail At Any Time.

(To the Editor.)
Dear Sir.—An article appeared in the 'Daily News' some time ago saying that the mail carriers of Harry's Hr. in going and coming for mails some time is spent in rabbit hunting. Now Mr. Correspondent you are on the safe side its a well known fact, but, sir, you are a liar and the faker of it. We can promptly deny your statement in saying that the mail was not delayed one minute through rabbit hunting, because we did not set a snare while carrying the mail. I had snares set before the service started. While coming through in my lunch hour I looked at my snares. When so doing I was at the camp. This was done twice about ten minutes of lunch hour each time. I would take a rabbit out of my snares in my lunch hour if a clergyman was looking at me. Now, Mr. Correspondent, bring your proof if you are a man, that we were rabbit hunting or delayed the mail in any way.
In reference to Mr. Gillard and the pit props; he is paying as much as any other contractor and I just heard one of his men say that they were making very good wages. John Gillard has always been a hard working man and never tried to live on what any poor man produced.
No doubt the News' correspondent is capable of saying most anything clear of good honest language.

F.P.U. AT SEAL COVE, WHITE BAY IS FLOURISHING

(To the Editor.)

Dear Sir,—Kindly grant me space in your highly esteemed paper, the Advocate, for a few words from this little corner of the globe, where the outside world hears from so little. I am glad to say that a branch of the great organization called the Fishermen's Protective Union has reached here and the Union is as strong here as can be for a little settlement like this. Most every one is filled with Unionism, especially when they see what Hon. W. F. Coaker has done in securing good prices for fish, etc. There is one little item I wish to refer to and that is the cutting of pulp wood here this winter, because we are not receiving the value of it only $7.00 a thousand scaled, but this timber is worth more than this. Besides this the buyer we have here won't scale this wood before the spring and when it is not going to be scaled before the spring you cannot tell whether you are making anything or not. I think this is one step the Government should take to see that we should get value for our timber. I must close, but thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the publishing of this and wishing Hon. W. F. Coaker and all Union members a long life in the political struggle.

I remain,

BETTER VALUE.

SHIPS SHOULD BE SAFE COASTERS MUST BE LOOKED AFTER Railway Is Needed Says Greenspond Writer

(To the Editor.)

Dear Sir,—Just a few lines to your valuable paper. I notice by it that a schooner that was surveyed in the monthly wages are reduced but provisions are not reduced in comparison with them. Take a man with 5 or 6 in family and getting $60 a month. Before he can go to sea he has got to get a pair of $9 rubbers and oil skins $4, how can he survive? Now there is an opening for the members of our district at the opening of the House of Assembly this spring to form up their conciliation boards, and also to see our district before we see a branch of the railway from Gambo down to Lewisporte or somewhere near by. Don't we deserve it as well as Conception Bay, Trinity Bay and even our South friends? Don't we pay in as much revenue as anyone else? A great many people are saying they are carrying out the guns again, as there are only a few men engaged in prosecuting the seal fishery and they want to make away with young and old and not leave any for us shore men. I also notice that Capt. Keen did not appreciate the laws made for the seal fishery since the coming of Mr. Coaker. We are all aware that he (Keen) has no use for anything that is in favor of the underdog. These regulations are what we should have had years ago, and then the man that took an interest in his fish would have been paid for his trouble. I must close now by wishing our worthy President and all that are included in Union interests a pleasant winter. FAIR PLAY TO ALL. Greenspond, Jan. 29, 1921.

F.P.U. Council, Foster's Point Holds Successful Tea and Dance

Uncle Charley Swinging Through Old Fashioned Reels

(To the Editor.)

The members of the F.P.U. Local Council of Foster's Point, Smith's Sound, held their annual meeting in January, 1921. The meeting was postponed for a week or so owing to some of the members being away. On their return home, the annual meeting was called on the 24th and business gone through and a few members added to the roll. The election of officers took place and all officers were re-elected for the present year. After hearing a report from our delegate from the convention, there were some stirring addresses from some of the members on the past year's business, and what the price of fish would have been only for the regulations, also an address from the secretary and chairman. Then the night was chosen for the annual tea and everybody, young and old, except a few, gathered in the F.P.U. Hall on the night of the 31st of January for a good time. Tea was served at 7 p.m. Thanks are due to the good ladies who kept the tables attractive until 11 p.m., when the floor was cleared for dancing. Everybody seemed to be enjoying themselves. When the music began it attracted the attention of young and old. Uncle Charley was not the last on the floor with his partner going through the old-fashioned swinging reel which amused our younger folks. Uncle Joe was not behind the door. He gave us some amusement which made everybody laugh. The dance was kept up until 4 a.m. when all went home pleased with their night's enjoyment. Thanks to friends who came forward to help swell the proceeds, which amounted to $35.00 that will go towards finishing the interior of the hall. Thanks to friend John Smith of Spook's Harbor for the music rendered on the accordion. Wishing the President a successful trip to the fish markets and a safe return home.

OBITUARY

AMELIA GILLINGHAM.

(To the Editor.)

Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your much read paper, the Advocate to record the death of my dear mother Amelia Gillingham, who passed peacefully away from this life on January 18th, aged 51 years. She was a great sufferer for many years but was never heard to murmur or complain but bore her sickness patiently and was waiting and longing for the Master's call to take her from this world to rest in Paradise which is far better, where all labor and sorrow shall have an end. She was laid to rest on Thursday, Jan. 20th by our lay reader Mr. Deekard, in the C. of E. cemetery, there to await the Resurrection morning when we shall all meet our loved ones again and know as we are known. She leaves to mourn her sad loss a husband, three daughters, mother, one brother and one sister and six grandchildren and many other relatives and friends. May the Lord comfort the husband in this time of trouble.

Our darling mother leaves us. No more on earth to dwell. How hard it is to part from her. No tongue on earth can tell.

Thanking you for space Mr. Editor, and wishing the Advocate and Mr. Coaker every success.

I remain,

Her loving daughter,
MALTRIDA GILLINGHAM.

The Woes of Mrs. Newlywed

"Mildew is all over this gown and I expect it is ruined for good," complained Mrs. Newlywed.

"Wet a cloth with soapsuds, lay the dress in the sun, spread with the paste of soapsuds and powdered chalk and sun some more. Then soak in buttermilk and lay again in the sun," said Mrs. Neighbor.

The Sickbed Lady

Nurse says this habit of beginning a dinner with soup, which is really digested before it enters the stomach, is a good practice, as it soon enters the blood and refreshes a hungry person in a few moments. She says it is particularly good for children for this very reason. It saves work for the stomach as well as strengthening the organs of digestion for the further duties of the meal. A well-made soup has everything needed for the proper development of a child and it should be served once or twice a day.

More air is the cry of the age, but many mothers fear the effect of night air, at least, on sleeping children. If the air is blowing directly on the little ones when the windows are open, fasten long pieces of cheesecloth across the open windows. The lower ends of the cloth should be allowed to blow with the breeze. Even if the whole cloth is tacked the fresh air will sift through, and the little ones will benefit much by it.

Proper Manners

"Will you please tell me the proper way to eat a club sandwich and if it should be taken up in the fingers?" asked Maud.

"Never eat sandwiches with the fingers unless at a picnic. A club sandwich is eaten with a knife and fork," said her aunt.

Boys and Girls

A child who is between two and a half and three years of age may be given fish in her diet. It should be white meat fish, such as halibut, cod or swordfish, and may be given in place of meat. Care should be taken, however, that there are no bones in the fish because many children have been choked by fish bones. The richer fish, such as mackerel, salmon and bluefish, with dark greasy meat, are not easily digested by young children.

Meat may be given when the child is between twenty and twenty-four months. It should be either beef, lamb or chicken and, when first given, it should be scraped until the child learn how to chew it to prepare it for good digestion. The amounts should be small at first, starting with one teaspoon and gradually working up to meat the size of a medium chop, which will be after two or three months.

Meat should not be given every day, especially as the weather begins to get warm. It is a wise rule not to give meat more than at six meals a week.

Health Restored After Years of Suffering She Feels It Duty To Tell About Tanlac.

"Tanalac has helped me so much that I feel it my duty to tell others know about it," said Mrs. S. Como, 153 Bellefleur St., Quebec, recently.

"For three years I never felt hungry, could hardly eat anything, and even the little I forced down hurt me something awful. At times the pain and distress from indigestion was so bad I could hardly stand it, and often even the sight of food would nauseate me. My liver was disordered, and I suffered dreadfully from headache. I was also very nervous, and the least little unexpected noise would almost frighten me out of my wits, and it was almost impossible for me to sleep.

"Well, it seemed that I had no strength or energy at all when I began taking Tanlac, but I certainly feel like a different person now. I enjoy all my meals now, and everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. Those headaches and that nervousness, in fact, all my troubles are gone, and I sleep like a child again. I've actually gained fourteen pounds in weight, and feel just fine. I'm so thankful for my good health that I'm always telling others about Tanlac."

Tanalac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, in Musgrave Harbor by T. W. Currie, in Joe Batt's Arm by Michael Hackett, in New Perlican by E. J. ## THREATENED TO BURN HOUSE

In a central section of the city a man repped at a residence about 10 o'clock last night and when the owner came to the door asked for assistance in the shape of food. He put up a spiel about being unable to secure employment and then the other noticed he was "well-fished" with "moonshine" or something stronger. This discovery of course put an end to all further conversation and the man was ordered off the premises. He then wanted to fight the owner of the house, and threatened to return later and "burn the place down." He was decently dressed but had a rough appearance, and had he returned as he threatened would have met with a warm reception.

SINKING IN HARBOR

Mr. James Rose, of Western Bay, came into the city by the Shore train last night to enquire into the condition of his schooner, the "M. B. S." which has been anchored in the harbor here since last Fall. Up to Monday last the vessel was o.k., but a couple of days ago the discovery was made that the vessel was almost full of water and in a sinking condition. She will be towed into shoal water, pumped out and repaired.

Considering that she escaped damage by ice all the winter, there is a suspicion that foul play was used on the hull, but of course this will not be known until an examination of the vessel is made.

The Rosalind is due at New York tomorrow.

S. U. F.

Last night at the Odd Fellows Hall, an enjoyable concert and lecture took place under the auspices of St. John's Lodge, No. 5 S. U. F. Mr. J. Curlew presided, and the affair was largely attended. Songs were rendered by Miss M. Mitchell, Mrs. H. Small, and Mr. K. Trappnell, whilst Mr. H. Brown gave one of his well known recitations, and some splendid selections were rendered by the orchestra. The feature of the evening was the lecture by the Prime Minister, Hon. R. A. Squires, who took as his subject "The Unknown Warrior," and for over an hour gave a very interesting discourse, and was listened to with attention by those present. At the close a vote of thanks proposed by Mr. J. C. Phillips, was heartily accorded the lecturer. The evening's entertainment was brought to a close with the National Anthem.

SEALING PLANE GOES OVER THE ICE FIELDS

Made Two Hours Flight But Forced To Return By Engine Trouble.

The following official message of the sealing plane's activities was received by the sealingship owners yesterday:

"Cotton, Kean and Heath started patrol of sealing grounds to-day, but plane developed engine trouble when over Upper Black Island and forced to return. Saw Fogo and Gull Island from an altitude of 3,000 feet."

Weather conditions were excellent for the flight and but for the unforeseen trouble the plane would no doubt have made a circuit of the whole of the welping ice which it is estimated would take about 6 hours. Pilot Cotton reports that the temperature arranged from 10 to 12 above at an altitude of 3000 feet at which he was flying. When the plane is thoroughly tried out over the ice flights will, of course, be made at a much reduced height and with the powerful glasses with which the machine is equipped the herd should be "spotted" without difficulty.
